The Fresno Morning Republican.

VOL. V, NO. 145 FRESNO, CAL., THURSDAY, MARCH 17, 1892 PRICE—FIVE CENTS

WAS IT DESMOND

Who Was Approached to Kill Terry.

SOUNDS THOUGH IT MIGHT BE

Many Dubuque People Seem to Think That He Is the Proper Person.

DUBUQUE, Ia., March 16.—It is suggested here that the ex-sheriff alleged to have been offered $25,000 to kill Judge Terry in California may be Tom Desmond, a native of Dubuque. He was elected sheriff of San Francisco during the days of Dennis Karney, and has had a sensational life.

He was the leader of a party who rescued fenian prisoners from New South Wales. It is said he left California before the Terry murder and never returned.

A Cool Robber.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 16.—Deputy Sheriff Collins found two fine saws secreted in the cells of train robber Perry in the Lyons jail. A hempen cord, which the robber wrapped about his shackles to prevent them chafing his ankle, was removed and the irons fell to the floor, they having been cut clean through by some instrument duller than saws, probably files. No trace of such a tool was found. Perry's clothing was searched and $250 in bills was found inside the lining of his waist coat. The robber is very closely watched, but seems too cunning for his watchers.

Smith Held Without Bonds.

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—Police Judge Crovens tonight held George, alias Big Neck, Smith, for trial without bonds for killing Patrick Brannigan on election day. Nearly all the testimony shows that Brannigan had armed himself with two pistols and went hunting for Smith, and that several persons had told the latter to look out for Brannigan, as he was looking for him to kill him. The judge said, however, that Smith, instead of arming himself and going about the polls after that, should have kept out of Brannigan's way, and the question of self defense is one for a jury to decide.

Prominent Citizens Suspected.

WAUPACA, Wis., March 16.—Sensational evidence is being unearthed by the grand jury investigation of the murder of Banker Meade. The gun with which the murder was committed has been found, one barrel being still loaded. The jury has learned in whose possession the gun was on the night of the murder. It is expected that several prominent citizens will be indicted.

Tough Land Grabbers.

O'NEILL, Neb., March 16.—A gigantic attempt to capture 20,000 acres of land in this county is now in progress. One hundred and twenty men, under the leadership of Immigration Commissioner Steward of the Pacific short line, appeared this morning at the United States land office and attempted to file contests on 120 quarter sections. The land is really all occupied and if the gang succeed in having the land office accept their contest papers bloodshed will undoubtedly follow.

After Their Track.

LODI, March 16.—Dan McCarthy, the well known turf man, was in Lodi last evening for the purpose of making an offer for the Lodi winter training track. The directors of the company owning the track held a special meeting and McCarthy offered them $7000 for the track and buildings. It is not known whether the directors will accept or not. It is rumored that McCarthy is acting as the agent for Governor Stanford and that if he succeeds in buying a part of the Palo Alto stock will be removed here.

A New Canal.

TRAVER, March 16.—The great Alta irrigation district system of canals under the Wright law, has been completed and is running full of water, practically irrigating 130,000 acres of land. This result has been brought about by residents of the district purchasing bonds themselves. Five hundred miles of canals and distributing ditches are in operation. Some 5,000,000 feet of lumber has been used in head gates, drops, checks, bridges and flumes.

Young Field's Case.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Judge Van Brant handed down a decision in the case of financier Ed M. Field. He says he is not fully satisfied as to the sanity or otherwise of Field. He thinks, however, that Field is not in a condition, mentally to plead to any charge, and should be confined in the state asylum. This was ordered, with the injunction that Field be kept in such place until the question of his sanity or insanity be fully determined.

End of a Prize Fight.

PORTLAND, March 16.—At the inquest this afternoon over the remains of Pearl Henderson, the 17-year-old lad who was killed on Sunday while engaging in a prize fight with Charles Bell, the coroner's jury found that Henderson came to his death from over exertion while engaging in a prize fight with Bell. Young Bell was exonerated from all criminal intent, and will be discharged in the police court tomorrow.

The Illustrious Sick.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Secretary Blaine is improving today.

Representative Springer is slowly improving.

There is no material change in the condition of Senator Morrill.

About thirty-five members of the house are on the sick list, but none are seriously ill.

A New Bank.

BAKERSFIELD, March 16.—A new bank, called the Producers' Savings bank, was organized here today. The directors are R. Frisselle, H. Hirshfield, H. C. Park, F. A. Stewart, S. L. Carter, E. E. Elliott and L. B. Conkenhon. The capital stock is $100,000, divided into 1000 shares of $100 each.

Cleveland's Friend.

ST. PAUL, March 16.—Ex-Governor Campbell of Ohio said today he thought Cleveland still had the advantage of Hill, but could tell more about the latter's strength after his return from the southern trip.

A New Postmaster.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—J. B. Eaknean has been appointed postmaster at Los Banos, vice Barrett, resigned.

BAKERSFIELD'S ROAD.

Probability That It Will Be Pushed to Completion.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—At today's meeting of the executive committee, appointed by the Bakersfield railroad convention, an association was formed with Myron Angel as its representative to secure subscriptions of stock and rights of way.

Reports were also submitted showing that large land owners like Messrs. Tevis, Haggin & Carr, John H. Wise, J. M. McDonald, R. H. McDonald, R. E. Jack, the Flint estate, Miller & Lux, C. W. Clarke and D. O. Mills, were favorably considering a proposition to assess members at the rate of $1 per acre to raise money to build the road.

Mr. Angel estimated that $40,000,000 would build it, some fifty miles of which would be of a mountainous character and which would cost $20,000 per mile. He predicted success of the enterprise.

Officers Elected.

MONTEREY, March 16.—The thirty-seventh semi-annual convention of general passenger and ticket agents convened at Del Monte today. The following officers were elected: President, A. S. Havson, general passenger agent Boston & Albany; vice president, F. Chandler, Wabash road; secretary, A. J. Smith, Lake Shore railroad line; Messrs. Franklin Booth and Fred Whitney were appointed members of the executive board, and J. Havens was selected orator to succeed T. H. Goodman. The convention will meet at Bluff Point Lake, Vt., next September. Adjourned.

Obtained a Verdict.

VISALIA, March 16.—P. J. Conway today obtained a verdict against the Southern Pacific for $1666. Conway assisted in arresting Grattan Dalton for the Alila train robbery and claimed this pro rata reward.

A FEROCIOUS BLIZZARD

TAKES POSSESSION OF THE SOUTHWEST.

A Storm the Like of Which Is Seldom Witnessed in That Section.

DALLAS, Tex., March 16.—Sleet, snow and ice are causing havoc throughout the state. Fruit trees which yesterday showed full of blossom today are a mass of ice and prospects for a good crop of fruit is very poor. The blizzard is still raging.

Jefferson, Tex.—The fall of snow and sleet today has caused untold damage to fruit and grain.

Guthrie.—A terrible snow storm is raging here and there is much suffering among the poorer classes. It is feared the boomers who have gathered around the Cherokee and Cheyenne lands will have withstand the weather with difficulty. It is thought the cold weather will greatly damage growing crops.

Little Rock, Ark.—Six inches of snow here today, the heaviest for years. Reports from all parts indicate that the storm was general. Damage is reported to the fruit crop everywhere.

Memphis—Memphis has a blizzard. It arrived at 2 this afternoon and is still here. Electric cars have been stopped.

Helena, Ark.—Snowed all day. Fruit greatly damaged.

Hot Springs, Ark.—An unusually severe blizzard is prevailing, the snow being the heaviest of the winter.

Texarkana.—A blizzard is raging here, with heavy snow. Fruit is greatly damaged.

The Madera Bank Case.

The case of the people against W. F. Baird and John Brown, the San Joaquin valley Napoleons of finance, came up for trial in Judge Holmes' court yesterday.

On motion of the district attorney the case was continued until May 9, D. M. Tomblin, a very material witness for the prosecution being absent. Tomblin is said to be somewhere in the state of Washington. He was cashier of the Madera bank under the new management.

Professor Jordan's Lecture.

David Starr Jordan, president of the Palo Alto university, will lecture at the Barton opera house tomorrow night on "The Ascent of the Matterhorn." The proceeds of the lecture will be donated to the library fund of the Fresno schools. The price of admission is only 50 cents and reserved seats may be secured at any time without extra charge.

BAKING POWDER

In the New York Legislature.

The following, taken from "The Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter," refers to a new bill just introduced in the legislature of New York State:

"The latest development in the baking powder war, is the introduction of a bill in the Legislature of this state, requiring all packages of baking powder which contain ammonia, to be branded with a statement of that fact in large type on the label.

Now while the ammonia contention is on, why cannot the law give the public the benefit of the doubt? Wholly unprejudiced people are certainly not willing to be dosed with the substance acknowledged as a poison, simply because scientists, some of whom are not even physiologists, disagree as to its potency."

A similar bill was introduced last April but it is shrewdly surmised that the influence of interested parties prevented its passage. The provisions of the present bill are so just that it probably will soon become a law.

This will be welcome news to the manufacturers of pure Cream of Tartar baking powders, the most prominent of whom is the Price Baking Powder Co. of Chicago and St. Louis, makers of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, who have always made a strictly pure Cream of Tartar powder, notwithstanding the temptations of adulteration suggested by the enormous profits realized by a large New York concern which uses ammonia, and advertises its powder as strictly pure, by means of garbled official reports and certificates signed by its own employes' dubbed professor, doctor or government chemist, as fancy may dictate.

A bill compelling alum powders to be conspicuously labelled as such, already exists in Minnesota and it is to be hoped in the interest of the consumer that similar laws will soon be enacted in other states, for ammonia as well as alum.

The following powders known to contain either ammonia or alum or both, will be affected by the proposed legislation:

Royal, Pearl, Calumet, Chicago Yeast, Forest City, One Spoon (Taylor's), Bon Bon, Kenton, Echo, Snow Puff, Unrivalled, Yarnall's One Spoon, Shepherd's Economical, Crown, Clymax, Hercules, Monarch, New Era, Snow Ball.

STILL TALKING TARIFF

In the House of Representatives.

NOTHING NEW WAS ADVANCED

Bryon of Nebraska Had the Floor and Demanded Attention of All.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—McKinley is now out of congress, but the principal speaker in the house today on the tariff in person, features, voice and gestures was so like him that old time members might fancy he was in congress again. The comparison ended with the appearance of the speaker, however, for Bryan of Nebraska is a prototype of McKinley. He attacked the law which the latter framed. Bryan's speech revived the flagging interstate tariff, discussion of which was the feature of the day and as he warmed up gossipers in the cloak room returned to the hall and soon he had the careful attention of a majority of the house. He was down for two hours, but the house gave him a third and wanted him to keep on.

Jaureguiberri—Tubs.

Domingo Jaureguiberri and Della Tubs were married last night in the Catholic church in this city by the pastor. The reception was given at the residence of Sam Ralston on G street near Stanislaus, and a large number of the friends of the newly wedded couple extended their congratulations.

A BIG BLAZE.

TWO HUNDRED TONS OF HAY WENT UP IN SMOKE.

The Small Boy and the Cigarette Believed to Have Been the Cause of It.

The north end of the hay shed on H street, between Merced and Tuolumne streets, caught fire last night at about 8.30 o'clock, and before the alarm was turned in about 200 feet of the building was in flames.

It contained twenty horses and 200 tons of baled oat hay, the property of Frank Wickersham of the City stables, on the corner of Merced and H streets. The horses were saved, but the hay was almost a total loss.

The first alarm was given by some boys who ran from the shed shouting "fire" at the top of their voices. A few seconds after a great sheet of flame and sparks shot up into the sky, and when the fire department arrived on the scene, which they did most promptly, it was at once seen that that part of the building already on fire was doomed.

Good work was done by the firemen, who prevented the flames from spreading any further, and in less than an hour the fire was extinguished.

The block on which the shed stood is occupied by wooden buildings, and if the fire had not been so promptly checked it would have eaten up the City stables and endangered the Hotel Pleasanton, a handsome brick building on the corner of the block.

When the first cries of fire were heard Mr. Wickersham's employes led the horses out of the burning building and removed them to a place of safety. The horses, buggies, carriages and other vehicles in the City stables were also removed as a matter of precaution.

Mr. Wickersham was insured with the A. B. Covalt agency for $2500. His loss, which consisted principally of the baled hay, is estimated at $3000. The shed was owned by M. J. Donohoo, whose loss will be something over $500.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but is believed to have been a boy and a cigarette.

DRUNKEN MICE.

THEY STOLE FORTY BOTTLES OF FRENCH CHAMPAGNE.

A Remarkable Thing That Happened to a Fresno Restaurant Man.

Mat Mitrovich, the restauranter, has made an important discovery in natural history.

He has found that mice drink champagne. It cost him only about $114, the wholesale price of forty bottles of French champagne, to make a discovery which shall send the name of Mitrovich sneezing down the aisles of the centuries long after Agassiz and Buffon shall have been forgotten.

It happened in this way. The choice champagne consumed by the athletic bloods of Fresno is stored in the cellar on racks, the bottles lying on racks with the corks against the wall.

Mitrovich does not like mice, but dearly loves cats. He has six felines to guard his treasure house, but a Fresno mouse can live where a cat would starve, and while the bantam tigers were feeding out of the swill barrel in the back yard the mice were drinking his champagne.

Having received an unusually large order of fine quart bottles from a lawyer who had succeeded a few hours before in hoodwinking a jury, Mitrovich went into the cellar and to his surprise found that two of the fine quart bottles were in the same condition as the lawyer—half full. An examination revealed the startling fact that the mice had nibbled at the corks until the wine began to flow and had swallowed by suction all the sparkling liquid until it got below the level of the hole in the cork. As the bottles lay upon their sides this occurred when half the champagne had been abstracted, and then a fresh bottle was chosen.

Mitrovich concealed himself and watched the mill for an hour. The first one sucked his fill, reeled away, danced about giddily for awhile and fell down asleep with an ecstatic smile upon his whiskered mug. His place was taken by a second until the whole colony of about 100 mice had joined in the general jamboree.

Cats are of no use in such a case as they cannot get between the bottles and the wall, and Mitrovich has changed his racks and placed the cork end of the bottles outwards where the mice cannot reach them.

Whenever he thinks of those forty spoiled bottles he feels forty different kinds of pains in his bones.

That's why he doesn't like mice.

AB GENTRY.

Death of a Gambler Well Known in Fresno.

Ab Gentry, the gambler who died in San Francisco last Monday, was well known in Fresno. About two years ago he conducted a faro game on I street, between Mariposa and Tulare streets, but when business became dull, owing to excessive competition on Mariposa street, he sought fresh fields.

Gentry was highly esteemed by all who knew him. Although a gambler, he was regarded as an honest man and could borrow thousands of dollars on his bare word. He paid considerable attention to a pretty milliner of this city and it was generally reported that he was engaged to be married to her, but the closing down of his bank and his departure without taking the milliner away with him gave rise to the belief that the marriage had been deferred.

The Examiner contains the following incident of his career in Virginia City during the '60's:

"Gentry was dealing one night when a desperado named McGurran had a row with the case keeper, whom he accused of stealing a stack of chips. The case keeper talked back and McGurran promptly shot him. He rolled off his chair to the floor. Gentry looked up as he dealt and said:

"'Will you keep cases, Mac?' and the game went on."

New Building and Loan Association.

Articles of incorporation were filed in the county clerks office yesterday for the Mutual Building and Loan association of Fresno, with the principal office in this city; term of life fifty years.

The capital stock is $200,000, of which $187,000 is subscribed, nearly all by Fresno people.

The directors for the first year are Lewis Leach, Alexander Gorden, Alexander Goldstein, O. J. Woodward, A. J. Wiener, W. J. Tinnin, J. R. Williams.

MITCHELL IS WANTED

BY HIS WIFE FOR STEALING HER FUNDS.

While She Was Visiting in Europe He Decamps With Money and Jewels.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Mrs. Herbert L. Mitchell of this city is anxious to know the whereabouts of her husband. She was married to him four years ago, and recently took a trip to England. On her return she found that her husband had drawn $34,000 of her money from bank and left with it, besides carrying away much valuable jewelry belonging to her.

Max O'Rell Coming.

Rev. Dr. Thomas in introducing Max O'Rell to a large gathering in Central Music hall in Chicago said they would listen to a serious lecture delivered by a serious man, says the Chicago Herald. Five minutes later everybody was convulsed with laughter. He is naturally funny and can uncork large quantities of wit and wisdom combined at pleasure. Albeit a Frenchman, he speaks English fluently. He is a close observer of men and things, and has a keen sense of the humorous.

Mr. O'Rell will be at the Barton on Wednesday evening, March 23, on the subject, "America as Seen Through French Spectacles." Admission, 50 cents; reserved seats, 75 cents.

After February 1, 1892, A. B. Covalt & Son will be located in their new office, 1918 Mariposa street, in J. C. Herrington's building. Money loaned on farm property at low rates of interest, also fire and life insurance. *

OWN YOUR HOME

Where every nail you drive and every flower you plant adds to your own wealth and is not another's gain.

If you have your lots paid for I can get money sufficient to build you a dwelling equal in value to your unimproved lots.

A very economical and industrious person earning a moderate salary now has a chance to live in his own house.

If you have from $150 and upwards saved, call on me; I can tell you how and where to get lots and where you can get sufficient money necessary to build you a comfortable home.

Strangers applying must give references as to character.

Persons owning unimproved lots now have an opportunity to put buildings thereon and thus make them a source of revenue instead of expense.

In these negotiations City and Addition Property preferred.

SMITH BROS,

FAMILY CHEMISTS

Corner I and Tulare Streets, opposite the Hughes, are the pioneers of low prices and pure drugs. Their stock is always fresh and nothing but the most reliable goods are sold. An extended experience in putting up prescriptions gives an assurance of confidence as to their ability, while the eminence of their competency as chemists and druggists is attested by six certificates. The question of properly put up prescriptions and pure fresh drugs is a vital one for the sufferer, we don't take chances, but come where you are sure of them. All orders by mail will receive prompt attention.

AN EXPENSIVE LUXURY.

The state of California has been so liberal in the matter of taxing itself that a good many people who consider the interests of the taxpayer of some consequence are casting about for methods and means whereby the burden of taxation may be made somewhat lighter.

Aside from the stoppage of plain stealing through legislative channels, there is no item of expense that could be more profitably dispensed with, in the opinion of The Republican, than that which is incurred in maintaining that superfluous adjunct of the Southern Pacific railroad company known as the California railroad commission. That commission has now been in existence for a period sufficiently long to thoroughly demonstrate its value to the state, and we think we are but expressing an almost unanimous sentiment when we say that it is an institution of no value whatever, having signally failed to accomplish any of the purposes for which it was created, and being both useless and expensive, it should be abolished.

There is a further objection to the railroad commission than the unnecessary expense which it entails. It stands in the way of legislative consideration of the transportation problem. It is possible that no better results would be secured by legislation, but that is not a certainty. It is certain that the legislature could not do less; it might do more. The members of the legislature appear to be more directly answerable to the people of the various communities which elect them than the railroad commissioners are to the people of their larger districts. In fact the railroad commissioners do not appear to be answerable to anybody. Ignoring the plain duties of their office they assume a high and mighty judicial air, listen indifferently to matters brought to their attention and exert themselves visibly when it becomes necessary to stand off an unusually clamorous demand for justice on the part of the public. They also take the action necessary to accomplish the drawing of their salaries. They are and have been since the creation of the commission a body invested with the power to get money from the people under false pretenses.

As a matter of fact the people are doubly taxed to support this ornamental commission, which is maintained by the state and the Southern Pacific Railroad company. The people pay directly the amount contributed by the state, and indirectly, as a matter of course, the amount contributed by the railroad company. When the Southern Pacific makes its estimate of expenses it naturally includes what it costs it to maintain the railroad commission in a manner befitting such a dignified, judicial body, and it would be expecting too much of human nature to suppose that this amount would be taken from the profits of the company. An item or two of freight is simply raised a notch and the comfort and peace of mind of the commissioners are assured.

This railroad commission is a fine thing—for itself; but so far as the people of California are concerned it is a useless burden; to the commonwealth it is a disgrace. The next legislature should give to the people the privilege of abolishing it.

Nature is now painting a landscape in California that rivals old and new masters.

The Mail denies that Stockton is located on a slough. The local appellation is the Morman channel. A slough by that name smells no sweeter.

If those Oakland bonds are not voted pretty soon the newspapers of that city ought to be put under bonds to keep the peace. The war is getting wearisome.

The following law still remains upon the statute books of New York: "If any white female of 10 years or upward shall appear in any public street, lane, highway, church, courthouse, tavern, ballroom, theater, or any other public resort with naked shoulders (low-necked dresses), being able to purchase necessary clothing, she shall forfeit and pay a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $200." If some heartless minion of the law should drop down on one of Mr. McAlister's celebrated undress receptions and lay his vulgar hands on the violators of the law, what a hysterical shriek there would go up from that creamy crowd. Mr. Hill or some other politician who seeks popularity ought to make himself solid with the truly good and beautiful by having the obnoxious law repealed.

The Santa Rosa Democrat, addressing the Petaluma Imprint, says: "Say, Imprint, whoop up the electric road. It will boom both towns. See what it has done for Stockton and San Jose." Yes, it does anybody good to see what the electric road is doing for Stockton, says the Mail. We republish the Democrat's remark for the sake of encouraging the mules. The electric (get up there, Dobbin!) road is, as we were about to remark, a benefit to (go 'long Barns!)—a great benefit to Stockton. (Whoa!) But it should be remarked that this city will have an electric road in full operation within a few months, and then the town will be boomed. The Democrat is merely casting its prophetic eye into the future; its advice will be applicable before many moons. Meanwhile—g'lang there, Jennie!

The alleged conversion of Jay Gould to Christianity is a very amusing topic for the journalists of the country. It is true that Mr. Gould has been a long time discovering that he has a soul to save, but accepting the popular opinion as to the size of the spiritual part of him, the lateness of the discovery is not surprising.

The esteemed Californian of Bakersfield is opposing the custom of uncovering the head at funerals on sanitary grounds. It argues that it is a mere matter of form, and that "the heart may be just as sore under a hat as with an uncovered head." It may. Indeed the heart with an uncovered head may beat more lightly than the one sheltered by a hat, especially if the heart is feminine and the hat an ancient one. This applies with equal force to less solemn occasions than funerals.

The young outlaws of Blackstone avenue need looking after. The residents who are suffering from their depredations could probably protect themselves by having some detective work done and putting the machinery of the law in motion. Mercy because of youth when applied to young hoodlums is generally misapplied. A term in the reform school may save a life sentence in the penitentiary. Thieves and murderers as a rule are grown up hoodlums.

Alonzo T. Jones of Oakland is the author of a volume of 895 pages entitled "Two Republics." It is devoted to a comparison of the Roman and American republics, with the special purpose in view of showing the vast superiority of the latter because of its maintainance of the doctrine that the church and state shall be separate and distinct. The Roman republic furnishes a magnificent illustration of the effect of combining or of making the state subordinate to the church. The book claims historical correctness, is profusely illustrated and the theme is treated in an interesting manner.

Considerable speculation was caused by the recent coldness exhibited by New York's 400 toward Chauncey M. Depew. The reason therefor was asked without satisfactory results. The cause has just come to light. In an unguarded moment Mr. Depew expressed himself as follows: "The great question is how to get the most fun out of life; this is done not by mingling with the rich because they are dignified and stupid, but by rubbing up against those who see the most of life. The first in this class are actors and the second are newspaper reporters." A man who associates from choice with actors and reporters has no more place in the charmed circle presided over by Ward McAllister than a grizzly bear has in a female seminary.

Notice of Street Work.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE Board of Trustees of the city of Fresno, on the 7th day of March, 1892, adopted a resolution, No. 150, of its intention to order the following work to be done, to-wit:

That a six-inch sewer be constructed from a Y on Calaveras street, opposite the alley in block 180, through the center of the alley in block 180 to a point within ten feet of the south line of said block 180, with a four inch on six-inch Y for each fifty feet frontage on said block, on said alley, the four-inch branch to be capped with an earthen cap; a six-inch inspection hole to be constructed ten feet north of the south line of block 150, equipped with a cast iron cover, as provided for in the specifications.

At the end of the sewer a flush tank of the Van Frankon pattern, and of 150 gallons capacity, to be constructed and connected with the flush water pipe by a 2 inch iron screw pipe, and provided with a 2-inch shut off.

For further particulars of said work, reference is hereby made to said resolution on file.

Fresno, Cal., March 10, 1892.

J. D. JONES,
Superintendent of Streets of the City of Fresno.

An Explanation!

Our store suffered last year for lack of proper goods. We did not have the quality and style of Shoes adapted to the taste of Fresno people, but we have now rectified our error. All our former stock has been closed out. We have disposed of everything to make room for the finest and best stock of shoes and ties ever brought to this city. We are now determined to show the public how close we can sell good goods. We stand back of every sale made and are willing to clear all dissatisfaction with another pair of shoes or refund the money.

☞We now stamp the date you buy them in the lining of each Shoe.

THE M'KAY MURDER

J. H. Murphy on Trial for the Crime.

JURY OBTAINED YESTERDAY

The Trouble Was Over the Location of a Mining Claim.

The trial of J. H. Murphy for the murder of William McKay near Coarse Gold gulch last December came up for trial before Judge Holmes yesterday morning.

The following jury was obtained to try the case: P. B. Millett, Milton Guton, M. J. Lindrose, Alfred Baird, Wilson North, H. G. Rhoads, J. L. Prather, Nelson Rolfe, W. C. Hensley, J. E. Paddock, E. D. Morrison and L. McNee.

E. S. Van Meter made the opening statement for the prosecution, which was substantially as follows:

On the afternoon of December 31 last the defendant was at Krohn's place at Coarse Gold gulch, with George Rich, Chris Peterson, Mr. Krohn, Ed Jones and Jerry Jones. They were having a pleasant time drinking and talking. William McKay was also there and a conversation took place between him and the defendant about the relocation of a mine, about half a mile from Krohn's place. There was talk there that at midnight the mine would be subject to relocation, and it was arranged between McKay, Will Krohn, Chris Peterson and George Rich that they should go up there at night and relocate it.

That evening Murphy spoke to McKay about the relocation of the mine and threatened harm if he did not put his, Murphy's, name on the paper. McKay answered angrily in kind.

About 8 or 9 o'clock that night McKay, Krohn, Peterson and Rich went up to a cabin near the mine and building a large fire stayed there. There is a path leading from the cabin to the tunnel of the mine, which is about forty steps distant.

The party remained there until a few minutes before 12 o'clock when McKay, the leader, said "Boys, it's time now for us to locate this mine." They all started out. Rich had a lantern in his hand, as did McKay. After going a few steps in direction of the tunnel, McKay turned back saying he had forgot something. He entered the house, where the fire was still burning brightly and the door was open. While McKay was in the house the men he left outside were fired upon by some one from a point near a tree on the south side of the gulch.

Rich immediately put the lantern under his coat and threw himself to the ground, exclaiming, "By God! boys, they're firing at us" Several shots were fired. Peterson remarked, "We have come here to locate that mine and we are going to do it," and upon this they rushed down to the mine and posted up the location. But just before this Bill McKay appeared at the doorway of the cabin in the full glare of the fire light and with a lantern in his hand.

Just then Will Krohn, who was looking directly at him, heard a shot and heard McKay say, "O, Willie, I am shot," after which McKay fell backwards.

Having tacked up the notice McKay's companions rushed back to where he was lying. The rifle bullet had gone clean through him and through the house. The hole in the wall of the house shows the direction the bullet came from and where McKay was standing.

As to who did the shooting, Mr. Van Meter said that he expected that the defendant, Tom and Ed Jones were down in the saloon that evening and talked about surprising the boys and locating the mine themselves. They started out and Murphy, the defendant, borrowed a small 5-shooter from Krohn. Ed Jones took along his Winchester, upon Murphy asking him to do so, and handed it to the latter. They passed up the gulch, the two Jones stopping about seventy-five yards from the place and the defendant, carrying the Winchester, going further on. He stopped near the tree before mentioned and it was from that point from which McKay and his party were fired upon. Ed Jones and Tom Jones saw the shooting.

After the shooting the Jones' and defendant came to where McKay's party was. Peterson very indignantly said he would like to know who had done that dirty work and the defendant answered: "I did it." He then said it was an accident, however. Murphy was arrested and brought to Madera. At Madera he told Judge Arch McDonald that it was not an accident; it was a murder, but he did not do it. He stated that it was a murder also to Mr. Van Meter, after the preliminary examination at Coarse Gold. All this the prosecution expect to prove.

The counsel for the defense objected to opening statement on the ground that instead of stating the facts the prosecution expected to prove, the attorney for the prosecution asserted, that such and such things were facts. They moved that such statements be stricken out. Motion denied and defendant excepted.

The court then took a recess until this morning at 9.30 o'clock.

PERSONAL.

F. Saffell has taken a flying trip to San Francisco on business.

L. J. Miller goes to San Francisco today on business connected with the Pine Ridge flume.

Colonel Eugene Lehe and Lieutenant Colonel J. J. Nunan of the Sixth regiment came down from Stockton yesterday.

Judge T. P. Ryan and wife left on this morning's train for San Francisco. The judge will remain several days to attend to some law business.

The Right of Way Muddle.

Many persons to whom the San Joaquin Valley railroad company is indebted for the right of way are complaining because they have not yet received their money. They say that their contract is with the railroad company and not with the right of way committee, who it appears have failed to keep their agreement with the railroad representatives. A conference between the committee and Marcus Pollasky will be held at an early date to determine upon some mode of settling the dispute.

What Is He After?

A. N. Steele, a capitalist and railroad man from Michigan, is visiting Fresno and is the guest of Marcus Pollasky. Mr. Steele was here about a year ago, and on his return a few days ago expressed his surprise at the progress of the city since he left. He was particularly impressed on seeing the large number of new buildings which have been erected in the northern, southern and eastern suburbs. He is here, he says, on business connected with real estate and lumber business.

The Poisoning Case.

The case of the People against James Benso, charged with attempting to poison Mrs. Lavorina, was heard before Judge Prince yesterday. Benso swore that the woman attempted to poison him and that when he was lying sick from the effects of arsenic administered by her. She used to come into his room and inquire, "Ain't you dead yet, you ——?"

The case will be resumed today.

THAT CANAL PROJECT.

Importance of Its Being Carried to a Successful Issue.

Supervisor T. C. White has returned from a trip to the city, and says he met a number of people who seemed to be deeply interested in the projected San Joaquin valley canal. As we here are the ones to be most benefited thereby the San Francisco people are of the opinion, of course, that we should take the initiative. Mr. White believes that if the people of the valley bestir themselves in the matter the San Francisco merchants will give substantial assistance and that willingly.

There is no doubt as to the feasibility of the scheme, and if Representative Caminetti succeeds in having passed the bill asking for an appropriation for the improvement of the San Joaquin river it will receive an excellent impetus.

But complete dependence should not be placed upon the bill. The people should go to work immediately to raise the necessary funds for the construction of the canal. The supervisors of this county have appointed a committee to lay the matter before the people and get them interested in the project. Several months has passed, but the committee has done nothing.

The representatives of the Southern Pacific railroad have stated times innumerable that they could not make Fresno a terminal point because they have no excuse to do so. They have no competition here, they say, and cannot therefore give us terminal point rates. If they made Fresno a terminal point they would have to do the same with other places. If the canal is built, however, Fresno will be in a position to demand that it be made a terminal point and its demand will receive attention.

The supervisors will meet next Monday and if the canal committees appointed by them some time ago makes no move in the matter it is likely a new committee will be appointed. Considering the importance of the matter it has already been too long delayed.

RAILROAD SHARKS.

A REVIEW OF C. P. HUNTINGTON'S BEAUTIFUL REPORT.

How Shippers Have Been and Are Being Robbed by the Great Monopoly.

To the Editor of The Republican.

I see that C. P. Huntington has made his regular semi-annual statement to the San Francisco press, for the benefit of Wall street and London bankers. He reiterates his oft repeated story that freights cannot be lowered; that the road don't pay; that another line won't pay expenses; that we don't need one, and that we can't have one for ten years to come, which he thinks is as long as he can possibly hope to live.

When I was traveling over the eastern roads a few months ago I made it my special business to inquire into rates for the purpose of comparing them with Mr. Huntington's.

I found in a good many cases that the Southern Pacific people are charging us from three to five times as much as roads east of the Mississippi charge for the same service, over roads that cost twice the money. I can tell the gentleman that his rate between Fresno and San Francisco on green fruit is absolutely prohibitory.

During the past ten years I have made frequent attempts to market a portion of my crop in that city, but in no case has the railroad company taken less than half the gross proceeds; oftener they have taken three-fourths, and in some cases I have received back nothing but the empty boxes. On fancy fruit shipped east, which brings fancy prices, it takes about half to pay freight. On lower grades that bring lower prices it takes from three-fourths to all of it.

Since Mr. Huntington and his three partners have been acting as trustees for a road, built and paid for by the general government, they have managed to accumulate private fortunes amounting to $800,000,000 in the aggregate, to say nothing of the millions they have squandered in bribing juries, corrupting courts, and buying up legislators and newspapers like so many hogs in the market. And yet Mr. Huntington has the unblushing audacity to tell the world in general, and Wall street in particular, that railroads in California won't pay. But because the fruit growers and traffic association are forming strong unions for the purpose of securing more roads and cheaper rates in order to develop our resources and make San Francisco one of the great commercial centers of the world, instead of remaining an eighth-rate sea port town, as she now is, and always will be under his one-man power, and accursed dog in the manger policy, he goes out of his way to call us rabble, beasts of burden, hewers of wood and drawers of water.

Two of the charter members of that band of shylocks have already handed in their checks and gone to plead for mercy before that Almighty and incorruptible judge from whose decision there is no appeal. The remaining two are old and feeble, trembling and tottering upon the verge of the grave, with more money than will keep their descendants in affluence for 100 years to come, and yet they refuse to loosen from our throats their deadly clutches.

Still they demand more glittering gold, more pounds of flesh, from the poor toiling farmers, who are groaning and staggering beneath the heavy burdens they have put upon them. J. W. REESE.

Fresno, March 16.

New Lodge of I.O.G.T.

A new lodge of this order was instituted last Sunday evening at the Frank Wood school house with twenty charter members, by Grand Secretary W. P. Netherton, assisted by S. D. B. H. Hoag and fifteen members of Sanger lodge, with whom the chairs were filled and the charter members were duly initiated.

The following officers were elected and installed: L.D. and P.C.T., M. M. Jack; C.T., Frank Miller; V. T., Miss L. Bozington; R.S., Lee Jack; F.S., P. McDonald; treasurer, Fred Jack; marshal, Joseph Dunigan; G., Miss Laura Sturgeon; sentinal, Roy Crawford; S. J.W., Mrs. Hadsell.

This lodge comes into existence through the personal efforts of Frank Miller, who obtained the charter list. Mr. Miller is a school teacher at Hill's valley, and having been a Good Templar in Wisconsin, realized his duty and the good he might do, and the result is an organization that will undoubtedly prove a great benefit to the neighborhood.

A Fresno Book.

"Abbie Saunders," a story of real life by a Fresno author, contains no fiction, but is more interesting than any fictitious tale can be. Many residents of Fresno were personally acquainted with the circumstances, and testify to the truthfulness of the account. Fresno people will do well to read the book.

All members of the Y.I.I., are respectfully requested to be present at the next regular meeting on March 20, as business of importance is to be transacted.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Gives Some Interesting Reminiscences.

A. B. BUTLER AND THE TRIANGLE

Danger Ahead for the Forty-Acre Fellows—Indignant School Teachers.

The principal boast of the members of the Triangle and machine masters is that A. B. Butler, chairman of the county Democratic committee, has become their champion. If this be true, I fail to see how it helps a very bad cause; it is simply so much the worse for Mr. Butler. Fortunately there is no one man in either party in this county who controls his party, and while Mr. Butler is the main "producer" among the unterrified in Fresno, he is not regarded as a person of wide political influence. Personally, he is a moral man, a good judge of raisins and the possessor of first-class business sagacity; but I doubt that there is another citizen in this county who has lived here for five years, who is personally acquainted with so few persons here as he is. He is said to dispense a lavish hospitality at his lovely country house, but it is not the rank and file of the Democratic party who are the guests. He is said to live in splendor in his mansion at San Francisco, but the members of the Triangle have not yet been invited to sit at his mahogany—but that may occur.

"It is a little singular," said an old Democrat to me the other day, "to see Butler hobnobbing with the reckless gang that will eventually impoverish this city if left uncurbed. The people who are advising him now, and to whom he is unfortunately lending his ear with deplorable prodigality, are the very men whom he has most bitterly condemned in the past. When Terry was suggested for city attorney, Butler was bitterly opposed to his election. When Goucher was a candidate for senator six years ago, it was Butler who allowed a letter he had received from Chris Buckley, advocating Goucher's selection, to be read in the county convention, hoping thereby he would be able to encompass Goucher's defeat. The coolness between Butler and Goucher resulting from this act of the former, lasted some time."

* * *

Mr. Butler and Chris Buckley were at one time friends, and that accounts for Buckley having written him the letter referred to. That intimacy, however, was during the period when Butler was a friend of Sam Rainey and a member of the Republican county committee of San Francisco. This fact, indeed, seems to make Mr. Butler a fit coadjutor for the triangle, for a man who has enjoyed the friendship of Rainey, probably the most expert political manipulator of a fire department in the country, must have learnt a thing or two about the manner of bringing about the transformation our unskilled triangle has been laboring so clumsily to accomplish; that is, to make out of an efficient fire department an efficient political machine.

* * *

But, although Mr. Butler may desire to have the Democratic committee endorse the pet scheme of the city attorney, there is reason to doubt that such a policy will be pursued by that body. It is true said committee stultified itself once by passing a queer set of resolutions and might do so again. Yet it seems to me that this could be brought about only by jugglery. If there were a full attendance of the committee and the question of endorsing the triangle were put to a vote, the same would probably result in the noes winning by a vote of 16 to 8. There are a number of persons in the committee, however, who might vote with the ring, and crediting them to the ring, the anti-ringsters would still be ahead by a vote of 13 to 11. Of course, the meeting might be called for an unusual time of the day, or some other plan put into practice whereby resolutions favorable to the triangle could be passed, but there is no danger of the party supporting the county committee in case jugglery should win the day. The fact is that there is an impression in the rural precincts that the city triangle is worse than it really is, something not many may believe but which is true, nevertheless.

* * *

The county ring seems to have recovered from its depression of the past few months and the future appears bright with hope to its more sanguine members. It is evident from this that they have not yet made little excursions into the country, where the poppies throw burning glances at the azure skies; the asparagus proudly rears its head, confident it will bring 25 cents a bunch in the Fresno market, and the plow driving taxpayers curse the gang that saddled the 1891 county government act upon them. The rural folk are as strongly opposed to the 'steenth termers as they ever have been and it really looks now as if they will be proof against the gushing campaign orators. Now and then a farmer will make an exception, saying, "Well, I believe old Nelson is a good man," or mentioning some one else; but the great majority of them are in favor of a clean sweep in making the new ticket, and that is the only logical position they can take. To make any exception at all would destroy the value of their opposition to the other officials. Either rotation in office is good Democratic doctrine, or it is a rank pretense, a snare, a delusion, to catch the unwary and impose upon the ignorant.

* * *

It behooves the friends of irrigation, the 40-acre fellows, to keep a very sharp lookout over their interests just now, because there is that going on that will result in their being badly cinched unless they be on their guard. They must bestir themselves actively between now and the date of the Democratic convention, for it is at the latter that an attempt will be made to sell out the people. There is a quiet scheme, a very quiet scheme, to send two men to the assembly from this county who will vote for the riparianists and against the 40-acre fellows. No one who has observed closely those matters in which water was the substance of contention during the past year will have failed to observe that determined efforts have been made to create a sentiment against the Wright law. Ostensibly this sentiment is directed against the imperfections in that measure; in reality it is against the measure itself and any other that may have for its object the protection of the great body of the people against those who would monopolize the water in this valley. I will have more to say on this matter in the near future and hope to give names.

* * *

If it be true that Lawyer Grady is a candidate for congress Senator Goucher must have declined the invitation of a weekly paper to take possession of that office. In this connection it may be worth while to say that the lawyers in the last two legislatures are being roasted by the people of this valley for passing the abominable county government bills. It seems to be the general impression that if attorneys are unable to keep clear of such confusing legislation, a few hard headed hayseeds might give greater satisfaction to the taxpayers.

* * *

Lawyer Grady was in high glee yesterday. He had just returned from Selma, where he won a law suit, came delightfully near having a fight, and got an offer of $110,000 for his ranch. "If I sell my ranch," said Mr. Grady, "I'll set aside $30,000 of the amount I receive to start a Democratic daily newspaper in Fresno. It'll be a Democratic paper, you bet," with the emphasis on the Democratic. There is no doubt about Grady's Democracy and that he will make things lively should he enter the journalistic ranks is certain. Rumor again has it that the Expositor is for sale, and the determination of Grady to start a newspaper gives the matter the appearance of a significant coincidence.

* * *

There is considerable dissatisfaction among a number of the school teachers of this city with what they call the overbearing conduct of the city superintendent of schools. They state that the board of education has delegated powers to him which they should have reserved for themselves, and that Mr. Heaton is not bearing as modestly as he might the responsibilities he has had thrust upon him. One grievance is that he has recently started a teachers' class for the study of English grammar without the consent of the teachers. The knowledge of grammar of one of the teachers seems to have been somewhat defective and in order to prevent a spread of the disease Mr. Heaton called a meeting, announcing that thereafter they would have to meet every Friday afternoon after school hours to study grammar. Some of the teachers were highly offended at being so unceremoniously informed they were incapable of using good English, but none of them dared to oppose the head of the public schools. The teachers making the complaint believe that they are entitled to rest after school hours as well as the pupils, their work being much more arduous. JUNIPER.

"ONE OF THE CENTER."

His Veracity Attacked by Schoolmaster Taylor.

To the Editor of The Republican.

In an article in THE REPUBLICAN of a recent issue, written by some person signing himself "One of the Center," my name was used in such a way as to be somewhat misleading.

The writer of that article seems not to be very particular as regards the truth in his article. He says that I was discharged for refusing to teach where the furniture had been moved, giving the impression that it had been lawfully done, which is not true. Neither was I lawfully dismissed, a fact which the trustees have since found. The fact that the two trustees unlawfully moved the furniture from the school house does not signify that a teacher should follow it in the same manner.

There are other statements in his article that are wholly without foundation or truth, which would signify that the writer either did not know what he was writing about or that he was mistaken or that he wilfully misrepresented the truth. J. I. TAYLOR.

THE ELECTRIC ROAD.

It Will Be Completed by July 1 Next.

To the Editor of the Republican.

Now that Marcus Pollasky has acquired the controlling interest in the Belmont Avenue horse car line and proposes to transform it into an electric road, it would be in order for him to extend it up that avenue to Thirty-sixth street to Forsyth's southwest corner; thence south on Thirty-sixth street to the north line of the Fresno vineyard; thence west by the racetrack road to Fresno.

Such a road would be very popular and would afford a cheap and ready means for sightseers, residents and visitors to inspect the large vineyards. Only the favored few can afford to keep horses and buggies for that purpose. It would be well also to plant along both sides of the avenue evergreen trees for ornament and shade, and of a semi-tropical character, such as fan palms, draxcenos, date palms, magnolias, eucalyptus and the Abyssinian banana.

Thus in the middle of winter the visitor could ride between rows of green foliage and would note the difference between the climate of California and other states not so blessed. W. Y. Y.

Fresno, March 16.

Mr. Pollasky informed a reporter yesterday that he had let the contract for a belt line electric road twelve miles long. He declined to state what route would be taken, but said that he expected the road to be finished by July 1 of this year. It will be an overhead wire system of the Thomson-Houston patent, and the line, when completed, will be one of the most perfect in the state.

THE MILL DITCH.

HEALTH OFFICER MAUPIN WILL ORDER IT FILLED.

The Work Must be Begun Within the Next Forty-Eight Hours by One Party or the Other.

Health Officer Maupin will take active steps this morning to have the mill ditch nuisance abated. He thinks he has waited long enough to become convinced of the fact that the canal company does not intend paying any attention whatever to his demand made on March 9 to have the ditch filled within twenty days, and he proposes to serve notice on the company this morning to begin the work within forty-eight hours. Should the canal company disobey the order he will at the expiration of the forty-eight hours proceed to have the ditch filled in at the expense of the canal company.

He received yesterday the following petition signed by more than fifty property owners residing in the immediate vicinity of the ditch:

"To W. T. Maupin, M. D., Health Officer of the City of Fresno—Sir: The undersigned citizens of Fresno city desire to express their full appreciation of the promptness of your recent official action regarding the Fresno-street ditch and it is with reluctance that they again refer to the matter.

"But the experience of the few warm days of last week demonstrates that the condition of the ditch is hourly growing worse until at some points it is intolerable.

"Special complaint is made by those who visit the postoffice, as well as by the officers and employes of the postoffice department and other tenants of the building.

"The butcher shops and produce and provision stores along Fresno street are necessarily kept open, and are directly exposed to the poisonous influences of the ditch, whereby great danger arises that the daily food of many families may be injuriously affected.

"We therefore respectfully ask you in your official capacity to issue a notification to the Fresno Canal and Irrigation company requiring it to proceed forthwith to abate said nuisance as we consider it a matter of vital importance to the health of this city to have said nuisance removed without further delay."

If Dr. Maupin adheres to his resolution he may count upon the support of the people. The ditch has already been declared a nuisance and an every day menance to the public health. It is common sense that an injunction levied against persons to estop them from abating a nuisance should not hold for more than twenty-four hours, because that is long enough, if not too long, for the public health to be endangered. A nuisance of this kind is a nuisance every day and the safety of the public health is endangered every day, and hence all injunctions should be immediately heard and disposed of.

No court in the world would issue an injunction to stop a health officer from preventing a smallpox patient from walking in the streets, and no court would attempt to prevent a fire company from extinguishing a fire because their title to the engine was disputed. It seems to the ordinary layman that the courts should not interfere to prevent the abatement of an officially declared nuisance such as is the Mill ditch. After the smallpox patient is confined, the fire extinguished and the Mill ditch filled up it will be time enough for the courts to investigate the legality of those acts and award whatever damages, if any, may have been incurred.

The law itself recognizes this principle, for an appeal to a higher court will not stay the abatement of a nuisance.

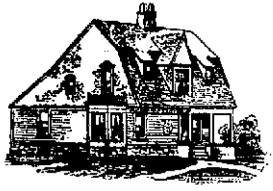
This Plan Has Many Advantages Over the Average Cheap House.

[Copyright, 1892, by American Press Association.]

In house building people usually expect more for the money than it is possible to give. The design here printed, however, ought to satisfy the most fastidious and exacting client. It is in the old Colonial style, one and a half stories in height, and contains a remarkable amount of available room.

The exterior, with the front porch, bay window and gambril roof, broken by dormer windows, produces a charming variety of outline very suggestive of comfort and good cheer within. It is perhaps better adapted to an inside lot, although it would look well on a corner or in open country.

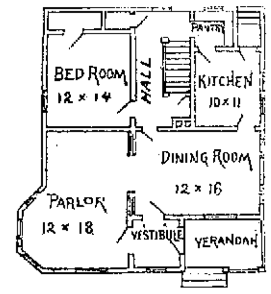


PERSPECTIVE VIEW.

One special feature of the arrangement of the rooms in the first story is the fact that the parlor and dining room are in the front of the house and both command a view of the main street. You enter the house from the veranda or front porch and first pass into a large vestibule, which can be used as a sitting room if desired. The vestibule is lighted by an elliptical window in accordance with the details of old Colonial work and set with pretty stained glass.

Some objections might be made, perhaps, to the location of the hall, since it necessitates passing through the dining room to reach the stairs.

It is true that custom has almost made it imperative that one should be able to pass directly from the front porch or vestibule to the hall and stairs; but we must remember that we are building with economical ideas as to cost and must reserve the most desirable space for the most important room, which in this special case is the parlor. Unless the staircase can be made an ornamental feature it is best located where it may be accessible but not obtrusive. In this case there is a direct passage from the street to the outside kitchen door, and communication from the kitchen to the hall through the pantry.

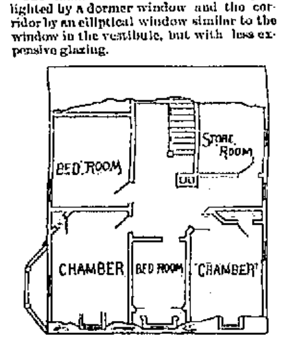


FIRST STORY.

If desired the pantry could be placed at the side where the outside steps are located and the outside door could communicate directly with the hall. But all these matters are questions of individual taste and must be decided by the owner.

In the second story we secure two good sized chambers and a small bedroom in front, with closets for each. In the rear we have a large bathroom and a storeroom.

The main hall in the second story is lighted by a dormer window and the corridor by an elliptical window similar to the window in the vestibule, but with less expensive glazing.



SECOND STORY.

A cellar extends under the entire house. The foundation walls are of brick or stone. The building above the foundation walls is frame. The walls are sheathed, covered with paper and clapboarded. No corner boards are used on the bay window, but the joints of the clapboards are mitered, which gives a very pretty effect. The roofs and sides of the dormer windows are shingled.

This house can be built where materials are cheap for $1,300, without a furnace.

D. W. KING.

Hints on Furnishing.

A house or room crowded with pictures is not in good taste, for the effect is confusing, and the beauties of few can be appreciated. The position of a picture depends somewhat upon whether it has glass or not. Place oil paintings so that the light will fall upon them obliquely if you would show them to advantage.

In ordinary rooms pictures should hang on a level with the eye. The effect of many good pictures is spoiled because they are hung too high. Only small pictures can be safely hung between windows.

We all know the delight of a closet, and alas, we know, too, the misery of doing without, so that a plan for devising the luxury can hardly come amiss. In almost all rooms the corners are practically waste space; they fill no need and supply no want, yet they are there, and they might be turned to good account. Such a simple device as fastening a strip of Japanese diagonally from wall to wall makes the foundation of a most convenient closet. It is first attached in a perfectly secure manner a little below the ceiling; then below it again is placed a brass rod, and from this hangs a pair of heavy curtains. The space can be as small or as large as the size of the room makes advisable, but it will in all cases give a triangular closet, which will not only be of service, but which will add to the effect of the room. Hooks can be hung within the space, and a shelf can fill the upper part of it.—Decorator and Furnisher.

PLANTING AN ORCHARD.

How, When and Where This May Be Done with Greatest Profit.

In planting an orchard for profit let the varieties be few. The largest money returns, as a rule, come from one or two trustworthy kinds adapted to the soil and climate and meeting the requirements of the nearest market. Each one of widely separated sections has its own favorite varieties, especially of apples, hence the orchardist who is on the ground can best determine the kinds it will pay him to grow. There are, however, a few points of general application and these are set forth as follows by the agricultural editor of the New York World:

High elevations or the vicinity of large bodies of water are especially desirable locations on account of their greater immunity from frosts. Apple trees should not be crowded. A distance of forty feet between the trees will seem great when first planted, but when full grown, in most sections, not too much. Soil only moderately fertile is to be preferred to a rich loam, and that from which an old orchard has just been cleared off should be avoided. Cultivation between the trees for a few years will be beneficial rather than hurtful, provided the original fertility is maintained by manuring. After an orchard begins to bear other crop bearing on the same ground should cease. As between planting in the fall or spring, either one is likely to succeed if carefully done. In a mild climate fall planting is thought the best. Spring planting should be as early as the ground will admit.

If the trees are to be set out in the spring make all necessary preparations, when possible, in advance, so that the planting may be done as soon as the condition of the soil will admit. There is nothing gained in attempting to transplant out trees of any kind when the soil is wet, but the sooner this is done after it is sufficiently dry to be worked into a good tilth the better. The plan of the orchard can be laid out and the stakes set where the trees are to be planted, the manure can be secured and much of the preparatory work done that will be of material aid in completing it in good season. So far as possible trees ought to be set before the leaves start and not be deferred until they are fully leaved. One advantage with spring planting is that usually no watering or puddling will be necessary, as at this time there is generally sufficient moisture in the soil. Have the holes for the trees sufficiently large to admit the roots readily without twisting or bending them, cut off all bruised or injured parts, then set so that the tree will stand about the same as it grew originally. Fill in the soil carefully, having it fine, so that it can be readily worked in around the roots, as having the soil and the roots come in close contact is a very important item.

Persian Cyclamens.

Cyclamens are among the most beautiful and interesting of the winter and spring flowering bulbs for the window and the greenhouse. Even when not in flower cyclamens are ornamental, the markings on the leaves being very beautiful. They are at their best during February and March, as then the flowers have their true color and the foliage is firm and good. There are no plants better adapted for pot culture and few that produce such a profusion of bloom, the flowers ranging through many shades of pink, crimson, white, etc., some being beautifully spotted. Most of them are moreover delicately fragrant. They should have no sticks or ties of any kind. The bulbs should be carefully watered and well ripened after blooming, as the next season's display depends very much on this. The plants should not be repotted until they break into growth, and then they should be put into smaller pots, shifting on as may be necessary.

The old plan of cultivating these was to grow on old plants year after year and to dry them off during the summer in the same way as gloxinias, the result being poor examples with very few flowers on them. Contrast this system with that now in vogue, writes an English authority, which is to sow the seed as soon as ripe, and to grow on the plants in light airy houses or pits in a genial temperature. In this way fresh healthy plants bearing a good head of bloom (as in the illustration) can be had in fifteen months from the time of sowing.

A WELL GROWN PERSIAN CYCLAMEN.

The seed, which generally ripens in July and August, should be sown as soon as possible in a light fibrous soil, with a little leaf mold and sharp sand. When the seedlings are strong enough, ten or twelve should be pricked off into a 4½-inch pot, and when large enough shifted singly into 8-inch pots, shifting again when these are full of roots. For the last potting stiffer soil is necessary. Attention must be given that the plants while growing are kept quite clean, as if insects are allowed any quarter the beauty of the plant will be spoiled. Numbered with desirable Cyclamens are the Giant, Album, Roseum, Emperor William II, Persicum and Rubrum.

Miriam R. Davis was granted a decree of divorce from Samuel Davis yesterday. The complaint is said to be a very interesting one. The papers still remain sealed, however.

Sent Him a Cutting Note.

Of course she was provoked when he passed her on the street without stopping to speak to her. He lifted his hat, it is true, but she recalled the time when he would have turned and walked several blocks with her, no matter how pressing his business. Hadn't they been sweethearts a few years before? Why should the fact that they had not met for three years so change him? Ought he not to be the more pleased to see her?

The more she thought of it the more she felt that he should have paid her some little attention, if only for the sake of old times, and when she reached home she was so angry that she resolved to make him repent his apparent slight.

The next day he received the following:

> MR. FILKINS—I believe you have a photograph of me—one that I gave you several years ago in a moment of girlish folly. I have since regretted that I was so thoughtless in such matters. I will esteem it a favor if you will return the photograph at your earliest convenience. ETHEL DEANE.

She held that it was a cutting note and that it would bring him to his senses if anything would. She told her best friend that she had brought him up with a round turn, but she didn't tell her best friend anything about the following reply which she received:

> MISS DEANE—If you insist, of course I will do as you wish, but it will be a great deprivation to the baby. The little fellow is passionately fond of pictures, and for nearly six months the photograph of you has been regarded as his especial property. Still my wife says she will take it away from him if you really need it. Very truly, ALBERT FILKINS.

She didn't send for it. She didn't ever bow to him when she next met him on the street. She didn't do anything except wonder when he was married and why she was so foolish.—Chicago Tribune.

A Nice Way of Putting It.

Husband—Are you going to Miss Twickenham's tea?

Wife—No. I haven't anything to wear.

Husband—Why don't you wear the same gown you did at the last tea she gave?

Wife—I have too much respect for you. People would say you were running down hill.—Cloak Review.

Americans Abroad.

"One scarcely feels nowadays a stranger in a strange land abroad," says a woman who "goes over" every year. "In western Europe, at least, Americans are everywhere. London, Paris, Rome, Nice, Berlin, Hamburg—all these places swarm with them, as well as the so called less frequented places. At a little town on the Danube, where the boat stopped for awhile, I started out to walk. A short distance from the wharf I saw, about to enter a house, a large, fair woman whom I thought looked very foreign, and summoning up my best German, I accosted her as to directions. She stared at me blankly a moment, then shook her head. 'Nein, nein,' she said, 'I no comprehend; out from New York yesterday.'"—New York Times.

Apes in Borneo.

"My acquaintance with apes has been chiefly made in Borneo," said Professor Henry A. Ward, the famous natural science collector of Rochester. "That great island is the home of the orang, which is the most arboreal of all monkeys. The animals live in trees altogether, rarely, if ever, visiting the ground. It takes two good marksmen to shoot one, because they dodge around the trunks. They do all their fighting aloft, and it is great fun to see them drop the armfuls of fruit they have gathered in contests for its possession. They are plentiful in the lowlands near the coast."—Washington Star.

An Advantage in Location.

"The privileges you enjoy, my son, from being an American," said the proud father, "are simply inestimable. You may some day become president of the United States, while in England no little boy, however brilliant or good, can ever become queen."—Harper's Bazar.

A Little Like an Insult.

"See many of my paragraphs or stories in the exchanges?" asked the funny man of the exchange editor.

"Haven't noticed," returned the exchange editor. "I've seen a good many things credited to the paper, but haven't looked to see whether they were dog fights, weather items or some of your gems. Want me to cut yours out and lay 'em aside for you?"

"Oh, no; I wouldn't put you to so much trouble," said the funny man.

"No trouble at all," asserted the exchange editor.

The funny man went back to his desk, thought over the matter for a minute and then threw a paperweight at the exchange editor.—Chicago Tribune.

Eggs Preserved Forever.

Dr. R. T. Burnett of Oakland arrived yesterday for the purpose of selling the county right to his valuable patent for preserving eggs at a very trifling expense. By his process thousands of eggs placed in wire baskets in an air-tight room may be rendered undecayable by fumigation with a certain substance known only to the doctor.

A test was made of the eggs at the Grand Central last night. The eggs were fumigated last August and placed in simple pasteboard boxes sealed with the seal of a notary public. When taken out they presented the same appearance of shell as if newly laid. They were subjected to the most severe tests.

The whites were beaten to a froth; they were fried and found to have lost none of their flavor. They made an excellent German pancake and withstood the test of being poached. The doctor will be at the Hughes today to explain his invention.

Royal Baking Powder Is Superior to Every Other.

It is a scientific fact that the Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure. . . . I will go still further and state that because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper proportions of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.

NOTICE OF ELECTION.

Huron Irrigation District.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT UNDER and in pursuance of the provisions of an act of the legislature of the state of California entitled, "An Act to Provide for the Organization and Government of Irrigation Districts, and to Provide for the Acquisition of Water and Other Property, and for the Distribution of Water Thereby for Irrigation Purposes," approved March 7th, 1887, and of the acts amendatory thereof, and of the order of the Board of Supervisors of the county of Fresno, state of California, made and entered on the 12th day of March, 1892, an election will be held on the 6th day of April, 1892, in the proposed irrigation district, which in the orders of said board, and this notice, is designated as the Huron Irrigation District for the purpose of determining whether or not the the proposed irrigation district shall be organization under the provisions of the above entitled act, and also for the purpose of electing,

One—An assessor,
Two—A collector,
Three—A treasurer of said district, and
